A message from Moose

Dear St. Martin of Tours Family (and Best Friends),

Hi. This is Moose the beagle. I used to come to work with my Mom Patty, and also to play with Dash. But last week, Dash and I got into a fight. That's because I didn't want Dash to stop my mom from giving me treats while I was there. But Dash wouldn't let mom give me treats without getting mad at me, growling, and bearing his teeth!

So I decided that Dash was a mean, spoiled, and selfish dog, and that I did not want to be friends with him. In fact, I waited by the door for two long hours until Mom took me home. See the look on my face? "Mom, get me out of here!"

Dash and I had some good play dates together in the past but he just refused to learn to share. I can't imagine how Dash would handle having another dog in his house.

Do you think it's because Dash is an only child? Do children who are an "only child" have a more difficult time learning to be kind? I asked my Mom about that. She told me that some kids who are an only child can in fact be very nice, while others who have a lot of siblings can be selfish and inconsiderate. She said it really depends ... on the parents.

The parents? The parents! Well no wonder! Someone needs to tell Dash's Dad to stop spoiling him so much!

That evening I was so very happy to get home and play with the other animals who love me, like Kitty-Kat. She made me feel a lot better.
